Facilitated by an experienced healthcare lawyer these masterclasses provide intensive, interactive training in an ideal learning environment to inspire and equip attendees with essential skills, knowledge and confidence for making changes and improvements in their practice.

Legal Issues in End of Life Care - Basic

This one-day course will provide healthcare practitioners involved in palliative and elderly care an introduction to the legal framework in which they practice. The day will cover the basic statutory and common law framework that governs how a healthcare professional can treat and care for those at the end of their lives. Through case studies the implications of best interest assessments and the Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards (DoLS) will be explored.

Legal Issues in End of Life Care - Advanced

This one-day intensive course will provide healthcare practitioners involved in palliative and elderly care an in-depth knowledge of the legal framework in which they practice. It is suitable for those who already have a clear understanding of the Mental Capacity Act, Mental Health Act and common law framework. Delegates must have a good knowledge of capacity and best interests assessments. They must also understand the DoLS assessments and process. The day will cover how healthcare professionals should work with Lasting Powers of Attorney, Advance Decisions and DNA CPR. There will be in-depth discussions around case law and best practice, along with guidance on how to assess documentation and when to seek advice.

Mental Capacity Act Training (including Advance Decisions)

This master class will focus on how the Mental Capacity Act applies to day-to-day practice with discreet sessions on capacity assessments and best interests assessments as well as looking at day-to-day practice delegates will explore case law including that on Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards and recent decisions in the Court of Protection.

Incident Investigation Reports and Quality Assurance

This interactive and practical one-day course will commence with an overview of Root Cause Analysis. The common mistakes that investigators make will be explored in detail. Delegates will be asked to bring a report (suitably anonymised or one will be provided) with them. Delegates will use the lessons learnt throughout the course to constructively critique the reports. There will also be a session on amending local policies and procedures to prevent these mistakes from happening in the first place.

Self Neglect and Adult Safeguarding

The need to protect people from abuse and neglect is a key element of the Care Act 2014. This masterclass focuses on the difficult issue of self neglect and adult safeguarding. Through national updates, practical case studies the masterclasses will cover self neglect under the new Care Act 2014, the legislative framework for self neglect, safeguarding people who self neglect: the evidence and what works, developing guidance for professionals when dealing with self neglect and resistance to engage with services.

Adult Safeguarding: Individual Management Reviews and Serious Case Reviews

This one-day or two-day course will provide a guide to using Root Cause Analysis in the investigation and provision of either Individual Management Reviews for health and social care providers, or Serious Case Reviews for Adult Safeguarding Board Panel members. Working with existing templates the course will explore how RCA tools can be used to make investigations and reports thorough, systems focused and evidence based.

Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards

Recent case law, including Cheshire West and the new 'acid test' are changing the way DoLs are being used, along with revised application and report templates. This in-depth training can be tailored to your needs as either a managing authority for DoLs or a supervisory body managing DoLs applications and ensuring your staff are fully aware of the safeguards and the likely challenges of the Court of Protection.
