FACULTY OF CLINICAL INFORMATICS

Annual Scientific Conference

Virtual Exhibition & Sponsorship

Thursday 8th October 2020   Virtual Conference

This conference will now take place virtually. Virtual attendance will provide delegates and exhibitors with the full conference experience from your workplace or home.

The Faculty of Clinical Informatics are pleased to announce their Inaugural Annual Scientific Conference.
The Faculty of Clinical Informatics has been established as the multi-disciplinary professional body for all health and social care qualified individuals working as informaticians across the UK.
#UKFCI2020

Join us at the inaugural scientific conference of the Faculty of Clinical Informatics – the foremost event for the science and practice of clinical informatics. The conference offers an opportunity for companies to support learning about pioneering research and insights for using information to improve health and well- being. The conference will have topics across the spectrum from managing information and communications for improving patient care, to tracking the health of populations. The day will bring together informatics professionals from diverse health and care backgrounds committed to transforming health through informatics. From the leading experts in the field, to the students eager to get started, the conference will provide delegates with an opportunity to learn and to grow professionally, to network and to start new collaborations.
