Friday 15 February 2019 De Vere West One Conference Centre, London

"At least 25% of hospital beds are occupied by people with dementia and on average people with dementia stay more than twice as long in hospital than other patients over 65 years old" Alzheimer's Society

"Poor care in hospital can have devastating, lifechanging consequences for someone with dementia." Alzheimer's Society

"Hospitals can be disorientating and frightening for someone with dementia, but there is a lot that can be done to make their stay easier to manage." Alzheimer's Society

"By 2020, we want every person with dementia to get the safest, best care in hospital, when they receive care at home and in every care setting." Prime Minister's Challenge on Dementia 2020

"Admission to hospital is exceptionally difficult for people with dementia. Illness or injury, loss of familiar surroundings and routine, and a busy task centred environment can all worsen dementia symptoms and increase the risk of delirium. The Alzheimer's Society cites figures obtained from Department of Health stating that people with dementia in hospital account for around 3.2 million bed days a year. Governments in both England and Wales have identified dementia care in hospitals as a priority for improvement." National Audit of Dementia in Hospitals Annual Report
